This week's focus

Through China's looking glass -
Subsidies to the Chinese Glass
Industry From 2004-08

In 2009, China is the largest producer of glass and glass products, has the greatest number of glassproducing enterprises, and has the largest number of float-glass production lines in the world. Since 2003, glass production in China has more than doubled. Concurrently, production capacity in China has also doubled since 2003 and increased more than threefold since 2000. This report documents the industry's explosive growth and exports and the government subsidies that have bolstered it from 2004 to 2008. full story »
